BASICS OF PLANNING & DESIGNING

In India, healthcare industry is facing various challenges like financial, demographic and epidemiological that led to metamorphic changes in the recent past within the discipline of healthcare architecture. Due to globalisation and increased demand of better healthcare standard in gradual shift in outlook of healthcare services has created a tough competitive environment in planning and designing of the hospitals and laboratory all over the world specifically in India where medical sector still remains at the back foot in current situation.

Hospitals and clinical laboratories are arguably some of the most demanding and challenging buildings to design which resulted major transformation at rapid pace with the time. They house a diverse range of specialist clinical services each with their own critical design, function and process requirements. With continuous advancements in research, technology, expectations, needs and policy, healthcare planning demands expertise to optimise performance and efficiency, in a challenging competitive market. Hence hospitals and laboratories should be designed and planned to meet the requirements of today and tomorrow that perhaps imitate the saying 'First we shape our building and then they shape us'. A well-planned and designed building should control infection rate, provide safety to patients, caregivers and visitors, help improve patients' recovery and have scope for future expansion and change. Reinforcing these basic principles, guidance on such effective planning and designing is the key focus.

Fundamental to the process of planning is an understanding of basic design principles that ensure future adaptability to the technological advances. A well design must have the flexibility to accommodate, as-yet-unknown changes in technology and scientific processes. Modular design is by no means a cookie-cutter approach but rather a simplified approach to achieving a wide range of goals in design.

As mentioned earlier, a new model design is emerging, one that creates environments that are responsive to present needs and capable of accommodating future demands. The first step in the design process is to understand the purpose of the set up.

The foundation for setting up a good hospitals and lobaratoies lies upon the precise planning of five main stream services. Those are

- Civil interiors
- Electrical
- HVAC (Heating, ventilation, and air conditioning),
- Utility services
- Safety aspects

Hospitals & Labs are process intensive centers and are vital component in patient care delivery. It is thus essential that the complex task of planning laboratories should receive due consideration on all facets. This is the reason for seeking expert help while designing a laboratory. ACCREDITO can help you achieve this complex task with strategic planning and innovations in most feasible manner.

Hospital Accreditation Programme (NABH, JCI, CBAHI)

QUALITY is the most significant paradigm of this country.
Let's join our hands and actively improve healthcare safety

In India, Health System currently operates within an environment of rapid social, economic and technical changes. Such changes raise the concern for quality and patient safety in health care. WHAT IS ACCREDITATION?

According to the International Society for Quality in Healthcare, accreditation is a process “in which trained external peer reviewers evaluate a health care organization’s compliance with pre-established performance standards ... HIMS & LIMS Solution

HOMES: Healthcare Organization Management e-Solutions is more than an IT solution, it helps you offer clear information, rapidly for better patient care while ensuring that the hospital operates efficiently and improved profitability by plugging revenue leakage.

ACCREDITO has launched HOMES (Healthcare Organization Management e-Solution), web based information management solution designed for small hospitals, diagnostics and clinics to improve the quality and management of clinical care and hospital health care management in the areas of clinical process analysis and activity-based costing. HOMES enables you to develop your organization and improve its effectiveness and quality of work. Managing the key processes efficiently is critical to the success of the hospital. HOMES helps you manage your processes and provides all process management tool elements: modelling, analysis and simulation. It was created with a special focus on affordability, scalability and ease-of-use, and more importantly as per the Accreditation Requirement.

ADVANTAGE OF HOMES:

Why automate your hospital processes when your staff has the caliber and expertise to perform them manually? Why the unnecessary cost? Aiming to clear that confusion, we have mentioned few advantages of implementing HOMES and the changes the hospital processes undergo as a result.

1. Easy Access To Patient Data

HOMES enables a well-implemented Information System where patient data can be readily available to the care providers. It is only a matter of few clicks and all the requisite information about a patient, from various departments in the organization, can be available on the screen. If the treating doctor needs to re-check the test reports of a patient, she need not go looking for the IPD file; logging into the HOMES will give him/her instant access to those reports and timely treatment decisions ensue.

2. Cost Effective

HOMES, when implemented well, cuts out on a lot of manual work that are essentially performed in any healthcare organization, especially the ones where documentation and record keeping is required. It helps in cutting down manpower because a lot of work gets automated and does not require manual intervention to store or analyze the information. It also saves much on storage and the related costs.

3. Improved Efficiency

HOMES automates your processes that means the processes will be taken care of mechanically without any human intervention and this will instantly ensure improved efficiency. HOMES will not face human problems like fatigue, miscommunication or lack of focus; it will perform every task assigned to it with the same accuracy day in and day out.

4. Reduces Scope of Error

Because processes on HOMES are automated and a lot of tasks are assigned to the software to perform with utmost accuracy with minimum human intervention, the scope of error is reduced dramatically.
